

To COMPLY... OR NOT To COMPLY... THAT IS NOT THE QUESTION

Arizona, Oregon, Washington, New York and Rhode Island have now joined California in enacting Title 20 energy efficiency regulations with the rest of the country following in 2009. Quite simply, luminaries with metal halide lamps rated from 150 watts to 500 watts must contain pulse-start lamps and ballasts. And ballasts must have a minimum efficiency of 88%.

Turn to Teddico for lighting systems with ballast solutions that are designed to save energy, yet outperform, probe-start metal halide lamps across a wide range of commercial, industrial or institutional site lighting environments.
